The Axe

By Frances Randolph

STOCKTON HALL, the new Law School building on Twentieth Street opens to-day. This time a year ago we saw the opening of Corcoran Hall for the Department of Arts and Sciences. What we will see next year depends upon the administrative officers of the University, upon the support of alumni, friends, and people interested in education, but most of all it depends upon ourselves, for the spirit in the University is the spirit which extends beyond it.

DEAN ROSE spends much time and postage in discovering that the modern college girl likes men, dancing, and risqué amusements. There is nothing alarming in such a discovery. All girls since time immemorial have felt the joy of movements in harmony with music (or the beat of tom-toms, as the case may be) and as long as they are taught that risqué amusements are wicked they will also consider them fascinating.

THE thing that Dean Rose HAS brought out in her questionnaire is that, many though her faults may be, the modern girl will admit that she is human and subject to the weaknesses of humanity. If such a questionnaire had been sent out fifty years ago answers would probably have been received that girls liked above all things to spend their spare time reading, embroidering, etc. And they MIGHT have believed it! The "new" college woman shows SOME improvement over the old.

WHAT has happened to the University insignia for student activities which was planned last year? Several plans were drawn up by the Student Committee by which this insignia would be awarded annually to students deserving recognition for work in publications, dramatics, athletics, organizations, etc. No action was taken by the Faculty Committee. Such awards would be a fine thing for the University in every way. Both the faculty and students believe this, the method of awarding being the chief point at issue. Can not a compromise be effected so that the insignia would be awarded as the Alma Mater's own recognition of merit? If not, then the honor societies of the student body should take up the matter, for there is a real need for such a plan. However, coming from the students it would lack some weight which faculty management could give it.

WHEN Henry James was married on the fifteenth of this month, he lost a sixty dollar suit! Yes, there was a bet on between Jimmy and Wilfred Pryor, each declaring that he would not be the first at the altar, so Wilfred is sixty dollars in. Selfish of Lennelle, wasn't it?

FRESHMEN are as green as usual this year when they arrive, but they grow up quickly. The stumbling blocks of University life are explained without the too-ready aid of the lordly sophs. Assemblies for the Freshmen and talks on the subjects of classes, activities, library, locations of buildings, etc., take the strangeness off quickly and enable the new students to get into the swing of college life and work much quicker than would otherwise be possible.

PRESIDENT LEWIS and Dean Hodgkins greet the incoming freshmen in the assemblies to-day. It is particularly appropriate that new students' first acquaintance with the University should come through these two men whose untiring work has been responsible for the greater George Washington project—Dean Hodgkins who, through forty long years worked to construct the foundation for greatness, and President Lewis who, building on that foundation, is rapidly realizing the dreams of decades of George Washington men and women.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DEBATERS TO MEET OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Men and Women to Compete For Positions on G. W. U. Team

NEW COACH APPOINTED

Dean Van Vleet Promises More Funds In Speech at Debating Banquet

The George Washington Debating Team will meet the Debating Team of Oxford University, foremost among England's forensic stars, in Washington, Monday evening, November 2, to uphold the negative side of the question: "Resolved, That the present government in Russia should be recognized."

The George Washington Team will be selected October 1, from members of both the men's and women's teams of last year. Mr. Louis Denit, recently appointed coach of the team to succeed Mr. Philip Barnard, who has recently resigned, is whipping the team into shape, and will select the members to meet the Oxford representatives.

Women to Compete.

This is the first year that women have been allowed to compete for positions on the team to face foreign debaters, and marks another step forward in university debating circles. Heretofore the men's and women's teams have operated as separate units, but those backing the debate figure that the university can present a stronger front if women are allowed to compete for positions on the team to face the English invaders.

Among the members of the two teams eligible for the debate are Miss Vivian Simpson, Miss Denise Levy, Ray C. Crowell, Oscar A. Zabel, Cyrus D. Hoagland, V. R. Ogg, R. N. Faulkner, John P. Trimble, Kenneth Miller, and Joseph Levinson.

Some Teams Defeated.

Last year the team was defeated by Cambridge University 683 to 442, but won a sweeping decision over the Oxford University Team in 1923. The men's debating team went through their entire schedule last year without losing a debate, with the single exception of the victory won by the Cambridge men.

Among the teams defeated were Syracuse University, Princeton University, Penn State College, University of North Carolina, and University of Maryland.

The women's team lost two engagements, one to the University of Pittsburgh, and the other to William and Mary College, and was victorious in its debates against the University of West Virginia and Cornell University.

Banquet Held.

LEWIS PLANS PARLEY WITH STUDENT GROUP

Representatives of Student Body to Confer With President Every Two Weeks

As a means of securing closer and more informal contact between the administration and the student body, President William Mather Lewis has formulated plans whereby a representative group of students will meet with him in conference every two weeks and discuss questions of general student interest. The plan is at present in its formative period, and although a tentative group has been selected as representatives of the student body, additions are expected as need becomes evident.

Departments Represented

The group selected by the president includes the Senior Class presidents of the Law, Medical, Engineering, and Arts and Sciences Departments, the presidents of the Inter-Fraternity and Pan-Hellenic Associations, and a representative of the University Hatchet. Henry James will represent the Hatchet. Any student may go to his representative and express an opinion, or air any matter of sufficient importance, with the assurance that the subject will be brought up at the next meeting of the group, and called to the attention of the administration.

Meetings Informal

President Lewis was explicit in saying that the meetings will be entirely informal and not in the nature of a court with himself presiding as judge. In such an atmosphere and with each student free to speak his own mind, the President feels that true student opinion will be reflected. No secrecy will veil the discussions from the student body as a full account of each meeting will be published in the University Hatchet.

IN ACTION SATURDAY AGAINST BLUE RIDGE COLLEGE

Second row, Bishop, Kegley, Sapp, Crombie, Clements, Kendall, Hayman, Coleman.

MASONS WILL ENDOW CHAIR OF DIPLOMACY

George Washington Selected As Best Place For Foreign Service School

SECOND SCHOOL IN U. S.

Funds Will Be Raised Through the Masonic Foundation For Education

Diplomacy as a study will come into its own at George Washington University when the Chair promised by the League of Masonic Clubs is established here. Announcement to the effect that such a project had been decided upon was made recently by authorities in Masonic Circles. George Washington was selected from a large field of possibilities as the most appropriate place for this endowment.

The plan was presented by the Educational Committee of the League, and action on the matter was authorized by the nineteenth Annual Convention. The first step in the development of the project is the accumulation of funds, which is now under way.

Has Unique Place.

The only school of foreign service in the United States at the present time is also located in the District, a part of Georgetown University. As that institution is a Jesuit school it was considered particularly desirable that such a school should be established in a non-denominational University. George Washington's School of Foreign Service will therefore be the only one awarding such a degree and having no religious connection.

The problem now being faced by the committee is the difficult task of raising money at a time when there are so many educational movements on foot among Masons. The Educational Foundation has opened the way for contributions not only among Masons, but from the public. Memberships in the Foundation may be had by Masons for one dollar, renewable annually, or for a single payment of twenty-five dollars. Life membership for Masons and others may be had for single payments of one hundred dollars or one thousand dollars. Any such memberships are recognized by certificates and membership tokens.

G. W. Thought Appropriate.

The selection of George Washington as the medium through which this work shall be accomplished is believed to be appropriate for two reasons. First, Washington offers unique advantages for the study of Diplomacy, International Law and kindred subjects; and second, Washington himself who earnestly desired the establishment of a University here was first a citizen of his country, and hoped that if a University was established it would be primarily for the furtherance of good citizenship.

G. W. U. HOST TO URBAN UNIVERSITY DELEGATES

George Washington University will be host to more than a hundred educators when the Association of Urban Universities meets in Corcoran Hall, November 11th, 12th, and 13th. Corcoran Hall for three days will be turned over to the visiting delegates, who include among their number many noted college presidents, deans, professors, and instructors. President Lewis was elected president of the Association at a convention held last year at the University of Buffalo.

HATCHET MEETING

All students interested in trying out for positions on the University Hatchet should attend a meeting of the staff Friday night at 7:00 o'clock, in Room 17, Corcoran Hall. Appointments to both business and publication staffs will be made by the Editorial Board this year, entirely on a merit basis, after applicants have demonstrated their ability and willingness to work.

Addresses by prominent newspaper men have been planned for Friday night.

For the information of new students, the Hatchet Office is situated in the rear of Building No. 3, and may be entered only through the rear door.

CAFETERIA ENLARGED; OPENS ON NEW BASIS

Three Meals a Day and Afternoon Table Service Feature Present Plan

Redecorated throughout and enlarged by an entire floor, the New University Cafeteria, at 2022 G Street, will open its doors to students of the University to-day for the first time, and will be prepared to serve three meals a day.

In line with the University's progressive policy the old "Rabbit Hole" quarters underwent extensive alterations during the summer months and are now opened to the student body under entirely new management. Mrs. M. C. Doome, who for a number of years conducted a cafeteria at Richmond College with the greatest possible success, will be in charge, assisted by Mr. P. N. Jester, a graduate of the University of Virginia.

Enlarged By Entire Floor

The most significant enlargement has been the addition of the main floor of the building at 2022 G Street to the space formerly occupied by the cafeteria. Of this the rear room will be devoted to service, while the two front rooms will be used to seat the student diners. Approximately 100 students may be accommodated at the same time.

Separate dining quarters will be provided downstairs for members of the faculty who desire privacy. The main floor, however, will be open to both students and faculty members.

Breakfast will be served this year for the first time in the history of the cafeteria. The hours are now arranged call for breakfast from 8:00 to 9:30, lunch from 12:00 to 2:00, and dinner from 6:30 till 7:30. A special feature will be the afternoon table service everyday from 3:00 to 5:00. Light refreshments, such as sundaes, beverages, pastries, tea, cakes, ice cream, and sandwiches, will be included on the menu at this time. It is thought that this feature will become very popular with the full-time students.

Under University Supervision

The cafeteria will be under the direct supervision of the University. According to Charles W. Holmes, treasurer of the University, the administration will endeavor only to make enough profit to meet overhead expenses. It is their aim to furnish wholesome food to the students at reasonable prices. As the success and quality of this service depends entirely on student backing, students are asked to give the new cafeteria their hearty support. Mrs. Doome, the new manager, has had years of experience in college dining service and has never met with failure.

HATCHET GRIDMEN FACE BLUE RIDGE IN OPENING GAME

Central Stadium to be Scene of First Football Battle Saturday

MANY NEW MEN OUT

Team Returns From Two Weeks' Training Ready For Season Opening

The shrill blast of the referee's whistle Saturday afternoon, September 26, will be the signal that will send eleven men rushing down the gridiron at the Central High School stadium in the wake of a spiraling football as the Hatchet gridmen of George Washington University meet the grid warriors of Blue Ridge College in the opening football game of the season.

Coach Crum has had a squad of thirty men quartered at the University of Maryland for two weeks prior to the opening of school, sending his team through a rigid course of pre-season training, and announces that his men will be ready for action when the whistle blows.

Few Veterans Out.

Captain Guy Hottel has had but few of his men of last year's team to report for early training, but is extremely well satisfied with the showing made by the wealth of new material out for practice. Captain Hottel has in "Bo" Lamar, quarterback, the only backfield letter man to report. "Horse" Zoller, end, "Bevo" Miller, tackle, "Mike" Goldman, "Tubby" Fletcher, and Captain Hottel, guards, and Francis Clements, center, are the other veterans out, but the coach looks for several more of last season's letter men to report as soon as school gets under way.

Many of the new men have shown up well in scrimmage sessions. Jack Crum, brother of our famous Maud, "Looney" Mock, and Hazen Bishop have shown exceptional ability as punters, and Coach Crum feels confident that he will be able to fill the place left by Loehler in this department. Mock comes from Derry High School, Pennsylvania, as does Jack Crum, while Bishop is a graduate of a Bay State high school.

New Men Do Well.

A complete new backfield will have to be built by Coach Crum. Besides Jack Crum, Mock, and Bishop, backfield candidates to show up well in practice are Coleman, quarterback, of the Greensburg, Pennsylvania, High School; Sapp, halfback, all high player in North Carolina last season; and Kendall, halfback, from Elkins High School, West Virginia. Other men out for backfield positions and on whom no line could be obtained are Clapper, Lopenan, Igo, Frazier, Popham, and Thomas.

STOCKTON HALL, UNIT 2, OCCUPIED BY LAWYERS

Named for Rear Admiral; is Fifth Location of Law School Since 1865

Another branch of the University has ensconced itself in a new home. Stockton Hall, the second unit of the comprehensive plan for a greater George Washington University, is finished and now occupied by the Law School in all its glory.

It is a modern and thoroughly fireproof building in every respect, and designed to fit the needs of those who occupy it. Costing around a quarter of a million dollars, its colonial style of architecture similar to that of Corcoran Hall, it represents another step in a building plan which will eventually encircle the block.

Stockton Hall faces Twentieth Street. Behind it is the gymnasium and across the future campus Corcoran Hall, which was completed last year. Ready access is gained to the other University units by paths in the rear.

Dedication November 14th.

Formal dedication of the new hall will take place November 14th, when the association of Urban Universities will hold session in Washington. Speakers of national prominence in the legal profession will be invited.

The building receives its name from Rear Admiral Charles H. Stockton, president of the University from 1910 to 1918, and in whose memory it will be dedicated. One room on the first floor will be known as the Stockton Memorial room and will contain a picture of the Rear Admiral and other mementos. This room is one of the largest and can also be used as an assembly hall or a class room.

On the first floor there are also offices for the Dean, Secretary and Registrar, an alumni room and a faculty room.

OUR MAIDEN BOW

With this issue the University Hatchet for the first time makes its appearance under the supervision of a Board of Editors, a bigger and, we hope, a better paper. It will not be its policy to reflect the opinion of one person or of a limited group of persons, but of the entire student body. To this end weekly meetings of the editors are held and questions of policy discussed and determined. The Hatchet welcomes student criticism of its columns so long as it is constructive criticism. To the chronic critic, however, we suggest that there are always positions open on the staff for workers who truly desire to improve the paper.

WELCOME, FRESHMEN!

At this time it is but fitting that we take some cursory notice of the stranger within our gates, if only to acquaint him with the rules and regulations under which he must live if he would remain in our midst. That part of his welcome, however, may be safely left in other hands, and, believing that we can see beyond the first few weeks' awkwardness to four years of strength and loyalty, we give the stranger greeting and the best of wishes.

Welcome to George Washington means welcome to George Washington's work and to its activities. It is carrying coals to Newcastle to urge scholarship on the newcomer to the University, but it may not be amiss to point out its practical advantages. A scholarship average of two-thirds ("C") is required for all athletic teams, debating teams, and positions in activities. Girls are required to make this average before they may receive bids to sororities.

Activities will meet the stranger half way. We can not urge him strongly enough to go the other half, or adequately explain to him the real advantages to be derived from early and earnest participation in at least one activity. College life at George Washington is found most truly in these groups of students working together for a common aim and for the advancement of the University.

Become one of us, freshman, and cease to be the stranger within our gates!

STRIKING A BALANCE

To-day about twelve hundred George Washington Freshmen will be gathered into assembly halls and told just what the University is and what it has to offer, not only in terms of subjects to be pursued, but of opportunities offered by participation in athletics, organizations, and campus activities. The plan is a wise one and will start the new Freshman Class on its way with advantages never enjoyed by those preceding it. There are teams upon which the Freshmen must eventually take their place, there are campus organizations that need new blood and new ideas, and there are laurels to be won. These as well as application to books constitute a college education. President Lewis last year told an assembly of students that they should not go through college merely with the idea of piling up credits. Presented with the facts and advised by University officials at to-day's assembly, the Freshman should endeavor to strike a balance between the two. He can not afford to slight one at the expense of the other.

REACHING OUR PRESIDENT'S EAR

At the suggestion of President Lewis a representative group of students will be selected in the near future to confer with him every two weeks upon questions of student interest and welfare. The idea is an admirable one, as it will bring about a better understanding and relationship between the administration and the student body. At the present time there is no point of contact except through the various councils, the functions of which are limited to specific activities, and do not extend to general student interest. We may be sure now that our troubles, if we have any, may through our representatives reach the ear of our president.

SAME STUDENT TAX FOR ALL

Everybody pays the same activity tax, and everybody must pay the first semester in advance, according to the edict of the powers that be. Whether the student takes one hour or fifteen, the tax is the same. The advantage of the system is apparent. Where previously the tax was paid by the month, and special students paid less than others, now each pays the same, eliminating the confusion of collection and making the funds immediately available for use. Withdrawal will not cause a refunding of the tax, but the privileges may be used until the expiration of the semester paid for. Such an arrangement is an advantage to both the school and the individual and puts G. W. in this respect on a more up-to-date basis.

RAY G. W.—TEAM, TEAM, TEAM!

Cheers from the throats of thousands, active support by every student of the University—only in this way can we hope to make the coming football season a success. Concerted action in cheering, in singing, in snake dances, at pep meetings, in the University and out, must be had to put a winning team across. The coach can't do it all. He has had a squad of thirty men in training for two weeks before the opening of school, an accomplishment never attempted in the past. Through his efforts almost twenty-five new football men have been persuaded to select this University as their alma mater. It is now up to the students of the University, those whose only interest in football is in seeing their team play and win, to swing the balance and make the season a success or a failure. Come out to the pep meetings, attend all the home games, talk your team up around town, and help make the George Washington eleven a team of which you can be justly proud.

The name and fame of G. W. has been carried to the far corners of the earth in the past few months. The Sigma Kappas had a banquet in Paris in August! Betty Jo Hopkins, Mary Brown, Isabella Brown, Betty Ryan, Helen Hosford, and Agnes Nelson assembled for a joyous reunion.

Helen Periam, after having spent the summer in Europe, is returning to school and will graduate in February.

Helen Newton has been studying at the University of Sorbonne, and visited friends in the peerage in England.

Eddie Randall and Ted Allen have been traveling in Europe, and Perry Garde and Charles Ballard have been in Havana.

Sarah French Smith spent the summer in Europe with the William and Mary College party.

Although summer is vacation time for most of us, Cupid, it seems, has been working overtime.

Betty Booth and Robert Hooper McNeil were married on September 9, and will live at Hamilton, N. Y. Mr. McNeil is an Instructor of Journalism at Colgate University.

Another marriage of two well-known G. W. students took place early in the summer, that of Max Prentiss and Winifred DeVoe.

Bess Kincannon was married on August 27 to Jack Robertson of Gulfport, Miss., a student at Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College. They are living in Mississippi.

Al Cherry went to his home town, Salt Lake City, to claim his bride, who was Miss Martha Cannon. They were married on June 20.

Ruth Pressgrove was married last April to Chet Heisy, a Franklin-Marshall man, the marriage having been kept a secret until later in the summer. They will make their home in Frederick, Md.

Elizabeth Owen is married to Albert R. Beatty, Business Manager of the "25 Cherry Tree."

Josephine Huber and Ensign Carleton Hoffer, U. S. N., were married on June 6, and are living in Annapolis, and Louis Ford was married on June 6 to Ensign Marie Van Meter, U. S. N. They are living in Norfolk.

And the engagements! Betty Corl and Arthur Roberts; Mildred Volandt and Reed Thomas; Minnette Ruddiman and "Red" Shields. There are also rumors that Nan Messer, Edith Hocker, and Lydia Shepherd are engaged.

Among those taking summer courses at Cornell this year were Edna Kilpatrick, Frances Walker, Eva Lewis, Josephine Clendenning, and Ruth Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw announce the arrival of a boy, born in California in September. Mrs. Shaw, who was Miss Beatrice Henning, was prominent in student affairs at George Washington.

Hoopla! Hoopla! The Sigma Chi boys started the season with a rush dance at their house on N Street Saturday night, which was a very gay and enjoyable affair.

Miss Roberta Boswell, former architectural student here, attended Columbia University last summer. She will enter Yale University this fall.

Kathryn Harris, prominent in art circles in Washington, is going to Europe in the near future with her father, who will represent the United States at an international meeting of architects.

John Wright and Meade Hammond were delegates to the Sigma Chi convention at Denver in June. Bob Sedam, Al Cherry, and Carlyle Maw were also in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Houghton traveled by boat to New England, and spent several weeks at Bretton Woods and White Mountain, N. H.

Bob Sedam will go to Swarthmore this year; Elizabeth Hobbs is taking a library course at Simmons College in Boston; Mary Waldo Bullard will attend Northwestern University; Pauline Heitmiller is in training to be a nurse at Johns Hopkins; Gene Hoffman will attend Normal School.

Dorothy Lewis, May Stabler, Ted Seibold, Louise Espey, and Frances DeGrange had a cottage in Maine all summer, which they christened "The Chi-O Chateau," and dashed around in a big, red car decked out in approved collegiate fashion.

We note Caroline West has now graduated—from Ford to Studebaker. Wonder if she'll "high-hat" us now.

The Kappa Sigas are giving a smoker Wednesday, September 23, and their first dance of the fall on the following Saturday.

Henry Zuberano had a very interesting trip through Mexico, California, and Canada.

Sallie Burkin was summering in California, as was also LuVerne Crabtree.

Helen Walten sang in the chorus of the light operas presented by the Washington Opera Company this summer.

Charles Hayne and Ben Cain reported a lively time at Ocean City, N. J.

Hatchet Reviews of Current Shows

By DAN DE SOUZA

With this issue the Hatchet prints the first of a series of weekly dramatic criticisms taken from the best cinema and stage productions appearing in the Washington theatrical world. This week we were caught unprepared, and couldn't get around to Poli's, Strand, Gayety, or Mutual. Our paid agents, however, report red hot entertainment to be had at all of the above.

EARLE

The Earle offers a number of interesting acrobatic acts this week. Messrs. Theodore and Swanson use a lamp post as their base of operation. Acrobatics on lamp posts were formerly very common, but they have been relatively scarce of recent years. Owen McGivney presents a scene from Dickens' "Oliver Twist," in which he plays all the parts himself. All who need one thousand dollars (this is expected to fetch the entire student body) should be on hand. This is the reward for exposing Mr. McGivney. J. C. Mack, with a flock of progeny, puts on a very amusing rendition of Mother Goose.

The news reel offers at home glimpses of Mr. Oliver H. Wallop, the Wyoming rancher who has become Earl of Portsmouth. Mr. Wallop is a husky he-mannish person, and it is impossible to fancy him wearing a monocle. A Paramount picture presents Greta Nissen, the lovely Nordic blond, playing opposite Ricardo Cortez. The story is laid in France, and the main obstacles to the triumph of true love are Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton as the arch villains.

The musical numbers are good, especially the organ solo. The other numbers are Christy and Nelson, in "A Fun Knockabout"; Sampson and Douglas, in "Wit and Harmony"; Manny Besser and Dorothy Balfour, in "Oh! Henry."

KEITH'S

Ned Wayburn's "Demi-Tasse Revue" is the headliner at the estimable Keith's vodvil house this week. Joe Donahue, a lanky and supple youngster, who looks just as if he had stepped out of the "How the young men are looking to-day" section of "Vanity Fair," is the lucky fellow around whom a bevy of pretty Ned Wayburn girls revolve. Next to being a reviewer for the HATCHET, I'd like to have his job. Rita Howard and Helen Fables especially took my susceptible eye. The piece is beautifully costumed and staged. Miss Patricola had a lot of singing to do. The audience couldn't get enough of it, and she sang till great beads of sweat rolled off her forehead and strangled her.

Other things that specially took my eye and ear were Tom Smith, who bills himself as "An Artist, a Gentleman, and a Scholar." He may be all these, but you'd never suspect it when he starts getting off his funny stuff. Then there was the sight of Mr. Krimm, noted critic of the Washington Daily News, trying to push through the crowd to get a Koolie. (P. S.—He got it.)

These are just the high lights of the evening, which force themselves into our short space, but there are an even dozen acts, all up to standard.

DAN.

RIALTO

The Rialto offers this week "The Goose Woman," which recently achieved a notable hit in New York. The title role is excellently played by Louise Dresser. It is a realistic portrayal of the tortures brought about by an abrupt change in one's station in life. Jack Pickford appears as the son of "The Goose Woman," and Constance Bennett takes the part of his sweetheart.

The comedy deals with newlyweds who are visited by relatives. It illustrates superbly that comedy for some folks is tragedy for others. Mr. W. L. Marsden, Jr., syncopates very sweetly in a saxophone solo, and the Rialto orchestra, with Mischa Guter-son conducting, gives as an overture the march from "Tannhauser." There is a vocal selection by Miss Estelle Wentworth. The news reel completes the bill.

TOM.

PALACE

By golly, you must see William O. Fields at the Palace. This old trooper is simply immense in D. W. Griffith's "Sally of the Sawdust"; in which he is up to his familiar tricks as a juggler, who brings up an orphaned tot in the atmosphere of the circus. He and Carol Dempster, as his ward, are the whole show.

The story is poor. The less said about Mr. Griffith the better, except that he has directed fairly well, and introduced a few good gags; but, oh well, when you drag a co-ed to the show, take Trixie, and not Mary, if you get what I mean.

Impresario Beatus has deleted some of the extra films, owing to the length of the feature, leaving in the Pathe News and the wearisome Topics of the day. Tom Gannon continues to supply some of the best musical accompaniment in town. JACK.

METROPOLITAN

It doesn't seem reasonable to invite you to go to a movie to hear good music, but if Dan Breeskin ladies out such excellent stuff, and the film feature is one that concerns the great northwest spaces, what am I to do? Dan and his boys play Offenbach's "Orpheus," and their rendition is alone worth the price of two admissions.

The film, "The Knockout," concerns the adventures of Milton Sills, as a boxer with a splendid Roman nose. Sills goes out into the broad lands where men are men, and where butter and eggs reign supreme. Then he comes back to defend his title as light heavy-weight champion. Does he do it? What a question to ask, my dear sir, with pretty Lorna Duveen looking over the ropes! Go to! The photograph of the piece is excellent, there being some specially fine "shots" of lumber racing downstream.

There is one of those comedies where people throw the scenery at each other most of the time, except when they vary things a bit by throwing each other at the scenery. Also there are the usual film extras. DAN.

COLUMBIA

At Loew's Columbia, "The Golden Princess," a Clarence Badger production, with Betty Bronson, Neil Hamilton, Rockliffe Fellowes, Joseph Dowling and Phyllis Haver.

"The Golden Princess" is another of the rip-roaring tales of the days of '49, but above the average. It has the usual thrills; this time the villain kills the heroine's father, holds up the customary stage-coach, runs away with her mother and blows up a mine. It has a maudlin ending, when the orphaned heroine, rescued with her lover from the mine explosion, kisses her erring mother, mortally injured in the affair.

PAUL PEARLMAN

G. W. U. Books

1711 G STREET NORTHWEST

Among the largest one-man shovels in the world is this electric giant engaged in open-pit mining on the Mesabi Range in northern Minnesota. It picks up eight cubic yards of iron ore at a gulp, which it dumps into a waiting car.

A day's work in a minute

Mesabi Range, renowned iron ore deposit, is yielding its mineral wealth at the rate of 16 tons for every bite of an electric scoop.

A man with a shovel would work a whole day to mine and load eight cubic yards of iron ore which this 300-ton electric giant moves in one minute.

Of course, all mining is not done on the surface. But there are many mines in which electricity has changed our conception of mining operations. Wires, penetrating even to the deepest shafts and galleries, have brought light, power, ventilation and added safety to those who must work in the very bowels of the earth.

Electricity's contribution to mining may be of particular interest to the student of mining engineering, but it is of general interest to all college men as still another example of how electricity is simplifying the world's work.

In every branch of mining operations G-E equipment is very much in evidence. And there are engineers of the General Electric Company especially assigned to mining problems and requirements, just as there are others specializing in all major applications of electricity.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

SPLINTERS FROM SPORTDOM

McGrew to Edit Splinters.
Crum Has Been Active.
Women Net Stars Shine.
A Look at Basketball.

BY H. M. B.

With the official opening of the George Washington University sport season coming Saturday we are ready to dish up red-hot sport briefs for Buff and Blue rooters. Dan McGrew, sporting editor of the Hatchet last year and manager of basketball for the coming season, will have active charge of this column in the future.

Coach Crum has spent the summer digging up new material for his football team, and from the looks of the twenty-five new men out for early season practice he has put in a profitable summer. Never has a more promising bunch of new faces appeared on the gridiron at the opening of the season.

The loss of the greater part of last year's team is sure to be felt until the coach is able to build up a new machine. With the exception of Lamar the entire group of backfield candidates are new men. Captain Hottel, Goldman, and Zollar are the only first team linemen to report.

It is rumored that a delegation from the Washington straw hat club will attend the Blue Ridge game Saturday, so it will be up to the Hatchetmen to score enough touchdowns to cause a shower of old straw lids down on the field.

The arrangement of the desks in the gymnasium for registration makes the would-be student pursue such a zigzag course during matriculation that no further practice will be needed in case a snake dance is started Saturday.

Women tennis players of the University made a wonderful showing in the District tournament during the summer, and two members of the Hatchet team reached the semifinal round.

Members of last year's rifle team had extremely good records in the national matches held this summer. Everett, Plugge, and Riley of the G. W. U. team were well up with the leading marksmen of the country.

Advance prospects seem extremely bright for basketball this winter. Many of the new football men are reported to be cage stars, and a very attractive schedule, including a week trip through West Virginia and Pennsylvania, has been arranged for the team.

Don't miss the pep meeting Friday night in Corcoran Hall at eight fifteen. Saturday's game will start at the Stadium about two thirty. Come early and avoid the rush.

Hatchet Reviews

But in spite of this, it is good entertainment. Director Badger, with the help of beautiful scenery and a well chosen and capable cast, keeps up one's interest, and recreates the good old days in God's clean-swept spots, when men were men.

Joseph Dowling is a riot as a woman-shy prospector, the "pardon" of Tennessee Hunter, the hero ably played by Neil Hamilton. And Phyllis Haver does nobly by the mother who deserts her little girl, acted by Betty Bronson. If we were ever tempted to write a fan letter, it would be to Betty—Isn't she a darling? Rockliffe Fellowes plays the villain.

The rest of the bill includes Harry Langdon, our Harry, in a fairly good comedy, the International News and Leon Brusilof working wonders with his limited orchestra. JACK.

FIRST PEP MEETING TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

All Students Urged to Attend Meeting to Be Held in Corcoran Hall

A pep meeting to arouse interest and promote systematic cheering at the game Saturday will be held Friday night at 8.15 o'clock in the assembly room of Corcoran Hall. President Lewis, Coach Crum, Captain Hottel, Manager Brandenburg, and members of the football team will be present and will give short talks, and cheers will be practiced under the leadership of the University cheer leaders.

Freshmen to Wear Caps

All Freshmen are to be made to wear their skullcaps at the opening game, and will occupy a separate section of the stadium. Between the halves the Freshmen will perform a snake and war dance around the field, provided the Hatchet team is leading.

Every student of the University is urged to attend this meeting so that concerted action may be had in the cheering at the Blue Ridge game. The meeting will be over in an hour, so everyone is urged to come promptly.

Hatchet Gridmen Face Blue Ridge in Opening Game

lege, are expected to fill the hole left at center by Vaughn Wagner. Willis, Burns, Dienhart, and Barnes are out for guard, while the chief contenders for tackle births are Rube Hayman, formerly of Alexandria High School, and for two years a regular at tackle for the University of Virginia; Jack Slaughter, of Wisconsin; and Crombie, of Sumfield Prep School. Candidates for end include "Axle" Kegley, of Thompsonville High School, Patterson, Hughes, Saunders, Allshouse, and Hudson.

The team this year will average up well with the 1924 aggregation in weight, one or two of the backs will probably be light, but the line will average around 180 pounds. Tom Tracey, head line coach and famous old Michigan guard, has been working with the front line men, teaching them the art of blocking and charging. Coach Crum has the backfield in hand.

Face Blue Ridge Saturday

Little is known of the strength of the Blue Ridge team. The Hatchetites defeated them in the opening game of the season last year by a 34 to 0 count, but it is reported that the Riders have a much stronger aggregation this season and the Buff and Blue gridmen are looking for a hard fight for honors.

Cheering sections are being organized for Saturday's game, and cheer leaders will be on hand to lead the University yells. A special section will be reserved for freshmen, and they will be required to wear their frosh skullcaps and sit to themselves. It is reported that the freshmen have a few songs and yells of their own to help the team to victory. A pep meeting will be held Friday night in Corcoran Hall to arouse interest in Saturday's game, and all students of the University are urged to attend.

COACH CRUM DRILLS MEN TWO WEEKS AT MARYLAND

Team in Scrimmages Against Byrdmen and Tech Eleven at College Park

Scrimmage sessions were held beginning last Wednesday, on the University of Maryland gridiron by Coach Crum in order to harden his gridmen for the season which opens Saturday. A squad of thirty men has been quartered out at College Park since September 9th for early season training.

A light workout against the Tech High School eleven was held last Wednesday afternoon. Many new men were tried out against the high school gridders, and the coach expressed himself as being well pleased with the showing made in the first workouts by the aspirants for the Buff and Blue eleven. Following the scrimmages the coach led his team for a mile of running and then sent them to the showers.

Skull Practice Held

Skull practice and signal drills have comprised the morning sessions. Blackboard and table demonstrations have been used to show the men how the plays should go and of what the work of each player consists in order to make the play a success.

The University of Maryland squad under Coach Byrd, was met in a scrimmage drill Thursday afternoon. This drill disclosed a great number of faults in the attack and defense of each of the two teams, and enabled the coaches to get a line on the specific problems requiring their attention.

Scrimmage Against Maryland

The line made a very good showing against the College Park team, and seemed to work best with Athey in center, Hottel and Goldman in guards, and Hayman and Crombie in tackles.

The backfield candidates could not seem to get going against the old line team, however, and Coach Crum immediately set to work to improve the offensive tactics of his men.

The training camp was broken yesterday and the coach brought his men into the city that they might matriculate and get their studies mapped out. Practice will be held at Potomac Park between now and Saturday, in which time the finishing touches will be put on the men for the first game, and a tentative lineup selected.

FOOTBALL TEAM FACES TEN-GAME SCHEDULE

Meet Bucknell in Third Game; climax of Season at Brookland Thanksgiving Day

The Hatchetite football eleven faces ten hard games during the season to open here Saturday. Eight of the games will be played in Washington; seven on the home field, while the eighth will be played at the Catholic University stadium on Thanksgiving day.

Following the opening game with Blue Ridge College at the Central Stadium Saturday, the Buff and Blue gridmen will meet an old foe, Juniata College in Washington on October 3.

To Meet Bucknell

The early season climax will come October 10, when the team travels up to Lewisburg, Pa., and takes on the strong Bucknell University eleven. It is toward this game that Coach Crum is doing his early season pointing.

Mt. St. Mary's College, a new foe for the Hatchet team, will be met in Washington on October 17. The Collegians always have a fine team, and this game will be an especially hard one to win, coming as it does, between two long trips.

Trip to Ursinus

The team will travel to Philadelphia and from there thirty miles west to Collegeville, Pennsylvania, for their next game. Ursinus College is the foe, and the men from the banks of the Perkiomen are sure to give the Hatchetmen a battle. Washington College comes here for a game October 31, and are followed by Temple University, of Philadelphia, November 7.

Albright College and Buffalo University are to be met on the next succeeding Saturdays.

Turkey Day Battle

The grand climax of the season comes on Thanksgiving Day, November 26, when the Buff and Blue team stacks up against the Maroon and Black gridmen of Catholic U.

September 26—Blue Ridge College, at Washington, D. C.
October 3—Juniata College, at Washington, D. C.
October 10—Bucknell University, at Lewisburg, Pa.

October 24—Ursinus College, at Collegeville, Pa.
October 31—Washington College, at Washington, D. C.
November 7—Temple University, at Washington, D. C.
November 14—Albright College, at Washington, D. C.
November 21—Buffalo University, at Washington, D. C.
November 26—Catholic University, at C. U. Stadium.

Student Activities Cards will admit students to all home games with the exception of the G. W.-C. U. game.

GIRL NET STARS DO WELL IN DISTRICT MATCHES

Advance to Semifinals in Women's District League Tournament Recently Completed

Co-eds of the University, and of the tennis team in particular, took prominent parts in the annual tournament of the Women's District Tennis League, recently completed. Five ranking members of the team competed and two who plan to try for the team.

Frances Walker, vice president of the league, and chairman of the tournament committee, was one of the best players. She advanced farthest of any of her team mates, reaching the semi-finals before being eliminated by the champion.

Others of the University who took part are Cecyle Taylor, number two ranking player on the team, Edith Petrie, ranking number five, Marie Didden, number seven, and Dorothy Bealer, number eight. Besides these, Leah Cate and Ivy Wymore of the University, competed.

The preliminary rounds were played on the courts of Henry Park. In these, by fortune of the draw, three of the seven G. W. players suffered defeat at the hands of their fellow co-eds.

Reaches Semifinals

The second round found all the G. W. girls advancing with the exception of Marie Didden, who fell before Corinne Frazier, one of the seeded players.

Events progressed nicely till the fourth round when Frances Walker took the measure of Leah Cate, 6-1, 6-3. At the same time Cecyle Taylor retired from the field after a game but losing battle with the defending champion, Louise Kelley.

As last year, Frances Walker again reached the semifinals, which with the finals, were played off on the courts of the Columbia Country Club. She, however, succumbed to Louise Kelley, in straight sets 6-4, 6-2, after a tight battle in the first brace of games. Louise Kelley later won the championship by defeating Frances Krucoff, runner-up, in a spectacular three set battle, 8-10, 6-4, 6-4.

Edith Petrie paired with Dorothy Kingsbury, fared better in the doubles, just missing entering the semifinal round of the lower half when they were bested by Frances Krucoff and Maycita de Souza.

Frances Walker, with Mrs. Louise Stambaugh, advanced to the semifinals in the lower half only to fall before the same team that defeated Edith Petrie and her partner.

VIRGINIA HOPKINS, NEW GIRLS' COACH, REPORTS

Physical Training Classes to Start in Gym With Opening of School

Virginia Hopkins, George Washington University's new women's athletic coach, is starting work in basketball and tennis with the beginning of school. Miss Hopkins comes to George Washington from Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.

All girl's athletic sports, including basketball, tennis, hockey, track and field, swimming and baseball, will be under the direction of Miss Hopkins. She will also have charge of the classes in physical education for women. Regular students will be required to participate in some sport or attend one of the physical education classes at least twice each week.

Graduate of Arnold College

Miss Hopkins was chosen out of a large field of brilliant aspirants for the position of women's coach at George Washington, and she has an enviable reputation as a physical director. She graduated from the Arnold College of Physical Education at New Haven, and since graduation has been engaged in coaching. Last year she was physical director at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C.

Physical training classes and basketball practice starts with the opening of school. The girls' tennis tournament in singles and doubles will begin at an early date. Other sports will be taken up in season.

DEAN ROSE TO CONTINUE SEMI-MONTHLY TEAS

Dean Anna L. Rose announces that she will entertain the women students of the University at her first semi-monthly tea, Wednesday, September 30, from 4.30 to 6.00. Last year teas given by the Dean of Women proved tremendously popular with women students and faculty members. Due to this popularity they will be held on every other Wednesday throughout the current school year.

FRESHMAN TEA TODAY

Freshmen women are cordially invited to attend a tea to be given by the Pan-Hellenic Association from 3 to 5 o'clock today in the Women's Club Rooms on the second floor of Building 2.

EXCAVATIONS REVEAL ART OF MEN IN OLD STONE AGE

Mrs. Mitchell Carroll Returns From Studies Abroad With New Material for Class

Mrs. Mitchell Carroll of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences has returned from her fourth summer of study in Europe, bringing with her new and interesting material for her lectures in Archaeology.

As a member of the American School of Prehistoric Research, under the direction of the distinguished anthropologist, Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, Mrs. Carroll studied in England, Belgium, France and Spain. The great museum collections and the famous cavern abodes of Paleolithic Man were visited—caves and rock shelters which have revealed the arts and industries and manner of life of prehistoric times.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Obermaier, the members of the school took part in the excavations going on in Altamira, and later at St. Leon-sur-Vesere, the school conducted excavations at the site of Castel Merle, which was leased through the late Dr. Mitchell Carroll for the Archaeological Society of Washington.

The University offers a course in Archaeology under Mrs. Mitchell Carroll and in cooperation with the Carnegie Institution of Washington there will be numerous lectures by distinguished visiting archaeologists. Some of these special lectures will be in the evening. The regular meetings of the class will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5.10 p. m. in Corcoran Hall.

ELECT EIGHT LAW GRADS TO BENCHERS SOCIETY

Eight students of the Law School who graduated last term with distinction have been elected to the Benchers Legal Honor Society. They are Fontaine C. Bradley, Robert S. Gordon, George Turner Howard, Frank L. Lowe, August H. Moran, Helen Newman, Ernest H. Oliver, and Fred L. Pearce. Election to the Benchers is considered one of the highest scholastic honors that can be conferred upon a Law School student.

HOCKEY SEASON OPENS

Hockey practice will begin immediately, according to Miss Virginia Hopkins, women's physical director. Practically all of the girls who made up last year's successful team will be back and much new material is expected to report.

Saturday the 26th, at 2.45 p. m., is the date set for the first meeting of the girls who were here last year.

"PRESENT!"

Songs, salutes and speeches, balloons, badges and banners, will mark the third annual Roll Call of George Washington University, to be held on the University campus October 12th at 5 o'clock.

This gala occasion is the only time during the school year when all students of all departments of the University meet in a body. The Roll Call this year is expected to be the most enthusiastic and noisiest one thus far, with six thousand sons and daughters joining their voices in announcing, "George Washington, we are here!"

Dean William C. VanVleck, head of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, has charge of arrangements for the Roll Call.

GYMNASIUM BEING USED TO RUSH REGISTRATION

Enables Handling of Two Hundred at Once Without Seeming to Crowd

Registration in the department of arts and sciences is being expedited in the most efficient manner ever attempted at this University. Miss Kinnannon, the registrar, has moved her entire corps of fair assistants into the gymnasium for the work. Where previously every vantage point was literally fought for in the last days of registration at the old building, 2033 G Street, under the present arrangement two hundred can be handled at once without a semblance of crowding.

Each college, with its advisors, occupies several rows of Law School desks arranged in rows behind the information booth, and dispenses with advice on its courses. Behind the colleges the treasurer's office collects $2 registration fees and $4 first semester activity tax from all applicants regardless of the number of hours taken. Lastly Dean Anna L. Rose checks the registration blanks, providing the $6 fees have been paid.

In this manner hundreds have been handled quickly and efficiently each day. There is no rush, no crowding, no excitement. So large is the room that although a hundred or more may be registering at one time the room does not seem filled, but a glance at the enrollment at the end of the day tells the story of the system.

Up to Saturday night close to two thousand had registered, and registration in all departments is expected to reach the five thousand mark by the end of the week.

STOCKTON HALL, UNIT 2, OCCUPIED BY LAWYERS

Room for 1800.

Altogether there are ten classrooms with a total maximum capacity of 1300 students, a library with accommodation for 50,000 volumes, offices and rest rooms.

A men's lounge and smoking room is located in the basement. A well-equipped rest-room for women is on the second floor.

In addition, on the second floor, are three large class rooms with capacity for 150 students each. The third floor has four more class rooms available, each with accommodations up to 200, and equipped as moot court rooms.

Judge Maury Memorial

Maury Memorial Library occupies most of the fourth floor, the rest of the space being devoted to offices for the faculty. The Maury Memorial Library is named for the late Judge William Alexander Maury, who was professor of law in the law school, then known as Columbian University Law School, for nearly thirty years. This library is being especially equipped and decorated from a fund which is being raised by graduates of the law school, who were students under Judge Maury, and friends of Judge Maury and of the University. A bronze tablet as a memorial to Judge Maury will later be placed in the library.

Ample room for expansion has been planned. The library contains shelf space for nearly 50,000 volumes and reading room space for 150 students. It contains the decisions of the highest courts of all the States and the District of Columbia, the reports of the United States Supreme Court and other Federal courts, the English Reprints, English Law Reports, the United States Statutes, the Statutes of certain States, the English Statutes, the principle English and American digests, legal encyclopedias and collections of annotated cases, and the leading text books and legal periodicals.

1925-26 Is 60th Year.

The law school was first organized in 1826, but was discontinued a year later. In 1865 it was reestablished and has been in continuous session since that time, the occupation of its new building celebrating, at the same time, its sixtieth anniversary. It is the oldest law school in the District.

Since 1865 the Law School has occupied four different quarters. From 1865 to 1884 it was in the Columbian Law Building on Fifth Street on the site now occupied by the Columbian Office Building; from 1884 to 1899 it occupied quarters in University Building on the southwest corner of Fifteenth and H Streets, on the site of which the Woodward Building now stands.

In 1899 a new building was completed for it on H Street adjoining the University Building, the site of which is now also occupied by the Woodward Building, and it was housed in this building until the early fall of 1910, when it was moved to the New Masonic Temple, Thirteenth and H Streets and New York Avenue. During the summer of 1920 the Law School was moved to 1435 K Street from which it has removed to Stockton Hall.

Standards High.

Standards of the law school are of the highest. It is a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools and complies with all their requirements. It is also a Class A school approved by the Council on Legal Education of the American Bar Association. To become Class A it was necessary that the requirements for admission to the law school be raised to two years pre-legal, and that the part-time students be required to complete their course over a period of four years instead of three as heretofore.

FROSH GIRLS LUNCH

The Sphinx and Hour Glass Honor Societies will be hostesses to the women Freshmen of the University on Saturday afternoon, October 3, at half past twelve.

All the Freshmen come to this luncheon. It's quite the thing to do. Last year's party was such a success that luncheon will again be served on the back campus of the University. The weather man promises a particularly beautiful day. The members of the hostess Honor Societies have arranged an interesting program—short speeches on various subjects of interest to new students by entertaining speakers from the student body!

Don't miss the luncheon!

George Washington Debators to Meet Oxford University

evening of August 19, Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., manager of men's debate, presiding. Ray C. Crowell, member of last year's debating team and member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Gamma fraternities, was elected manager of the men's team for the coming year. Miss Vivian Simpson, also of last year's team, and a member of Chi Omega fraternity, was elected manager of the women's team.

Dean William C. Van Vleck, as chairman of the Finance Council, assured the members of the two teams that they would be allowed more funds this year, in order to enable the teams to engage in a larger schedule than ever before attempted. Professor Gilbert L. Hall, chairman of the Debating Council, submitted various questions to the members of the teams, and announced that the management of the British team had confirmed the subject chosen for debate.

New Coach a Graduate.

Mr. Louis Denit, the new debating coach, is a graduate of this University, and is a member of the George Washington University Chapter of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity.

As has been the case in the last two debates held with Oxford and Cambridge Universities, the audience will decide the winner by ballot. The place where the debate will be held will be announced in the near future.

HOOR GLASS TO MEET

The Hour Glass Honor Society will meet in Room 4-29, Engleman Hall, on Wednesday evening, September 30, at 7 o'clock.

FORMER HATCHET EDITOR INSTRUCTOR AT COLGATE

Bob McNeil Marries Betty Booth Before Taking Up New Duties

Robert H. McNeil, editor of the University Hatchet in 1923, is now at Colgate University in the capacity of Instructor of Journalism. But Bob will not go to the New York college alone, for on the 9th of September he married Miss Betty Booth, also a graduate of George Washington. Together the two will make their home in Hamilton, N. Y.

Two years ago both Bob and Betty were among the most prominent students in George Washington campus activities. Bob not only edited the Hatchet but also the Cherry Tree. He was manager of football in 1923.

Took Master's Degree At Ohio

After leaving George Washington he took a master's degree in journalism at Ohio State. Last spring at the convention of the Pi Delta Epsilon Honorary Journalistic Fraternity he was elected Grand Editor. His wife is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and was president of the Senior Class at Teachers' College in 1924. The groom's father, H. C. McNeil, is Professor of Chemistry at George Washington University.

Bob spent the summer as a cub reporter on the Washington Herald in training for his work in journalism at Colgate this winter. He will also serve as instructor in Freshman English at the University.

APPOINT HELEN NEWMAN LAW SCHOOL SECRETARY

Miss Helen C. Newman has been appointed secretary of the Law School following the resignation of Joe Jordan from that position this summer. The former secretary will enter the practice of law. Miss Helen Newman was Manager of Women's Debating last year and graduated from the Law School with distinction.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK

President Lewis will be the principal speaker at the dedication tomorrow of the new Bethesda Junior High School which was recently completed. Governor Ritchie of Maryland will be present and will also make a short address.

WOMEN'S TENNIS MATCHES

Application blanks will be posted Friday for the women's fall tennis tournament, according to Frances Walker.
